NEW ENGLAND YEARLY
MEETING OF FRIENDS

The Epistle from the

Yearly Meeting held in London --- by Adjornments from the 21st to the 31st of the 5 Mo. 1806 inclusive - - - - - - - - -

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends in Grate Brittan Ireland and elsware.

Dear Friends - - - - - - - - -

We find in Meeting in this our annual asembley an renual of Lively zeal for promateing the righteousness which is of Christ and for removeing as far as in us lies the cause that obstructs it we trust that our meeting is not only profitably profesedly in his name but as we are given to drive strength and incoragement in his cause from the his strength mutual communication of our fealings and exercises of mind that he still owns us however unworthy and grants us by being at times baptized into the sence of our own weakness to seek with more ernestness his everlasting strength in the desires therefore that ye may be built up a people truly Cristian that righteousness and peace

Rom. 14th 17 and joy in the holy gast may increas and abound we again convay to you the salutation of love unfained we beseach you to consider the holy gradation of righteousness peace and joy and to mark that the first step is that most comprehensive attainement righteousness - Righteousness is immutable it leaves no duty unfulfilled Man has his full share of Love from Man and god his due reverence adoration and praise peace Main flows as a river and joy in the holy spirit completes the gracious purpos of cristian redemption Happy is that people that is in such a case yea happy is that people whose God is the Lord.-- But friends though we are thus favored to see and to approve things that are excilent yet when we review the state of our religious Society and scrutinize into the conduct of its members we are often obliged to observe that an enimy is at work that earth sometimes obtrudes into the place of heaven and that self-love in many is more conspickuous than self-denial. you know that the subjects of our inquiring on these occations wrapsent are arranged under different heads and that it becomes from time to time our concern to remind you of your duty respecting many of them. when we ask the question is there any growth in the truth moditly were there nothing els might ocation a dubitfuly reply but nothing needs prevent every man endued with the ligh of Christ in himself from endeavoring to answer this most important query plainly to his own conscience. as the vigrious tree brings forth its fruit in its season so if any man grow in the truth he will bring forth the fruits of truth, even the fruits of the spirit so well described by the apostle to the galatian converts and who obtrude their growth in any we reply the love of ease, the dred of conflict. but as winter and storms promote the nedbering of the outward creation so tribulation and conflicts improve the cristian they have their appropriate and appointed end in the work of sanctification; they arise not of the dust but are sent or permited in the proper seasons and whoever seks escape without his share rejects the verry means of his advancement and carcely can hope to attain his due "measure of the stature" of the fullness of Christ:" a state of which the same apostle speakes of as attainable by all.

Now, beloved friends brethren a subject deeply interesting subject, hath intervened among our deliberations on the state of our society; and its long felt importance importance induces us to suffer it here also to interrupt the current of our Critian counsill. No longer since than the last year we excited your attention afresh to the sufferings of the Africans, and spoke of the continuance of the cruel slave trade as of an accumulation of misery and of guilt. How then do we now rejoyce in having to proclame that this torrent of iniquity is arrested in its progress, that an important restriction of the trade has taken place that the cruel enslavements of thousands is prevented and that the progress again opens with increased brightness of a termination to the wrongs of Africa!!! — — — the Saveour of men. and when ye stand praying forgive if ye have ye have aught against any. He dath not allow time for seeing the ingiuring person becam submissive but standing forgive: for "If ye do not forgive neither will your father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses." O, the excellences of Christian Love and the temper of forgiveness it is the indespensible requesite in that spiritual worship to which we are as a people more peculiarly bare testimony yay is it not the very balm of life and the vestpart of heaven? - - - - - - - - - - - - - - -

Thus have we hinted at some of the leading characteristics of the Christian; we have attempted to hold up the standard of truth and and we tenderly intreat all our friends who feal the nicessity of measuring themselves by it and are in greate degree exemplary persons themselves to be frequently attending to their respective gifts in order to be helpfull to others for we are members one of another if we are realy members of that body of which the head is Christ. This mutual care is a fundimental prencipal of of our Christian Discipline: this mutual care hath brought us together at this time -

We have received this year epistles this year from all the Meetings with which this meeting usualy corresponds with the most remarckable feature in the intelligence which from these and other sorces we receive respecting our Brethren in North America is the great and successfull dilligence of some of their Yearly Meetings in prometeing the civilization of the Indian natives. We find that our Meetings for Suffering for Sufferings has been very properly diffused this intelligence among friends: and impressed with a desire of co-operating in a work so benevolent, this meeting has recomended a contribution to assist our American brethren in their very worthy pursuit: and we dawbt not that friends will chearfuly embrace this opportunity of testifying our unity with their labours. - - - - - - -

Although as we have alredy remarked in the accounts which come up in from the several branches of this Meeting we are affected with various particulars which we deplore yet we also are incouraged in observeing that that the good cause remanes dear to many that fresh instances offer themselves to view of zeal in the Lords service, and that some remains persons are still seeking to be united to us in consequence of convincement. ——————————

The amount of suferings brought in last this year is about ten thousand three hundred and fourteen pounds of which same part is for demands of a millitary nature but the cheef part ecclesiastical. and friends while we are endeavoring to bare testimoney against war let us shew by our inoffensive quiet demenor, that we are truely Children of peace and while we refuse the claims of a preasthood from which we conscientiously dissent let us be diligent in waiting on the grate minister of the true tabernacle. This you know, friends, is the perpos —— of our assembling to together in silence and through thought there is among us at this times but little instrumental ministry or none let not this produce any abatement of diligence in the duty. Instrumental ministry in the life and power of the gospel is a greate favor to the Church; but the distinguishing exalance of the Christian dispensation is the amediate communication with our heavenly Father through the inward revelation of the spirit of Christ let us therefore brethren, submit to the baptiseings opperations of the holy Spirit which purify the sole and produce the capacity for communion with God. ——————————

Now — The grace of the Lord jesus Christ and the Love of God and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all. Amen ——————————

Some Thoughts on the qualification and work of an Elder in the Church of Christ.

The work of an elder in the Church of Christ appears to be very weighty, and not to be moved in but as the mind is brought under a right concern, and influenced by that wisdom which gives a right understanding in those things that belong to their office. To take the oversight of this flock and to judge of the ministery, requires that such as are selected from those services should be well grounded in religion and acquainted with the working of Gospel ministry it requires a deep going down to feel after the mind of truth in all their movements; it requires clear discerning and sound judgement; it requires deep humility of heart; it requires the exercise of prayer, and without a portion thereof the duties of their office cannot be discharged to the honour of truth, nor to the edification of the Church. - For without these qualifications they are likely to err both in judgement and conduct; and their being set forward in religious society, exposes them rather more to some peculiar temptations, and so far both tends and is apt to think more highly of themselves than they ought. Where this is the case, they are very likely to err respecting the ground of ministry; though they may be capable of giving words of words, whether they agree with sound doctrine or not; but if they do not dawn, and travel in Spirit with those that minister, they they cannot discern what spring the words flow, and for want of this knowledge they are likely to err in judgement, and instead of helping forward the true birth, become the means of shifting, or staying of it. And for want of clear discerning and sound judgement, they may err nursing a false birth: and if there is not a dwelling in deep humility, there is danger of erring in conduct, and instead of being ensamples to the flock they be tempted to Lord it over the heritage.

"When I consider the weight and importance of the work confided to the elders, this query arises in my mind, "what is sufficient for these things?" for such weighty services the sufficiency must be of God or the work cannot be done. - For without a divine perception they cannot be qualified to discern, and give the living Child to the right Mother and if there is not wisdom and skill to use the snuffers with judgement and discretion they may extinguish the light, when they ought only to remove that darkness & brightness that it may shine the Ministry with greater clearness & the selection for this weighty service is made in and by the Church when under the divine influence, no doubt but the weight will be manned and the lot cast upon the right qualified: and there dwelling in that which gives ability to labour in the Church of Christ, can speak a word in season to them that are ready to faint.

On looking over the advices of our yearly meeting of Ministers and Elders in the year 1755. I find the following lines, which appear to me worthy to be transcribed, and with which I close this little essay, viz. "And when the elders appointed to assist them and have the oversight of the flock, have faithfully followed the heavenly leadings, they have been as a terror and dread to the Ministry, in strengthening their hands to war against with the enemies of godliness, and leading the people on their way from victory to victory over their enemies into the dominion of Truth."

Yearly Meeting held in London
By adjournments from the 20th to the 29 of the fifth month 1807 Inclusive: — —

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends in Great Britain Ireland and Elsewhere — —

Dear Friends, we are we beseech you the salutation of our undiminished and renewed love: may we not reverently say of our love in the gospel of Christ, for we desire to be as the messengers of good tidings to allure you to increasing degrees of dedication to the cause of Truth, and to make you partake of the measure which we are mercifully allowed to feel, by being thus together and with one accord. But though we have again cause to confess that there is strength in the union of exercises, in a joint engagement of spirit we also intreat you to remember that "the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him" & believe as a frequent application of heart to the Lord is the practice of friends in their private & their meeting retirements, that we will stretch them with our portions of his wisdom and strength, & he will be restraining in them the dispositions which tend towards the world, he will invigorate those which have their origin and accomplishment in heaven, and he will even "and he will even make glad the solitary place." On the particular inspection that we bear into the State of our religious Society, & many objects tending to its welfare have engaged our attentions; some of which we shall endeavour briefly to lay before you. But first we are inclined to express our thankfulness for an event which concerns not us only but innumerable multitudes of our fellow Creatures our fellow possessors of the faculty of reason our fellow objects of the redemption which Comes by Christ. We scarcely need name the abolition of the slave trade. We view it as one of the important acts of publick national righteousness which ever dignified the councils of any government, and our minds have been Directed in secret prayer to the all mighty governor of the universe, that he may be pleased to regard this decision & and Direct its future councills to such future acts of publick mischief as may promote bigotry, in the persons of his natural enemies. We may also mention that we learn by the accounts which we have received from our brethren in America, that their attention in assisting some of the Indian nations to attain the benefits civilization is still continued with vigour and with encouraging success. We are gratified with being informed of the contributions which friends in this nation have made in order participate in this work of benevolence.

Six thousand pounds of it are already put in train to be remitted to America; about nine hundred more are ready to follow; and we have cordial assurances from our friends abroad that they will readily take up them the administration of this service; which we trust will not only prosper to the advancement of our Indian brethren in the scale of civil life; but like the gift of old, mentioned by the apostle may be 2 Cor. 9. 12 abundant also by many thanksgivings unto God." Now, Dear friends, seeing Christian duty is not a complex system, but consists of a few simple parts it cannot be expected that great variety should be found in the subjects on which, from time to time, we are induced to address you. It is a peculiar glory of the gospel that it remains the same. Love to God, and love to our neighbours are its grand and primary duties; each harmonizing with the other; neither subsisting apart. To the latter we are immediately led by the general care which our christian discipline discipline promotes; and we believe it is also the ground of the more private, but not the less beneficial care which we trust is extended among us, in visiting families, when we know our annual inquiry do friends endeavour by example and precept to train up their Children, Servants and those under their care, which may lead them to a religious life and conversation constant with our christian profession? the query then is devided in four particulars, all of them indeed important, but we now have to do with them as to observe, that is important and indispensible as we believe they are for us, they are not to be made the sole criterian for judgeing whether our education has been duely and successfully given consider dear friends what subjection of spirit, what care of conduct and what self-restraint go to make up a good example, tempered as it should be with sweetness of manner, seconded by holy fervency, and recommended by its being manifest that ourselves are seeking first ~~as~~ the kingdom of God and his righteousness these are truly great but they are attainable objects and equally the duty of every one who lays claime to the christian character for though all are not called to the same station in the militent church all are invited to heaven; and the general terms of reconciliation are like to all. O friends, did we all thus seek and attain to the things that are excellent precept, impressive precept would not be needed nor whitheld love would not be needed inspire if prudence would direct it both as to season and quantity and what reason have we not for hopeing that the Lord himself would render it availing by his blessing? Our query as we have said decends to particulars, of which we shall only now advert to one and that because it hath peculiarly at this time occupied our serious attentions called forth expresions of the sense of several Brethren and furnished our meetings with no inconsiderable subject of consolation, we believe there is an increased attention in friends in various parts not only to promote in their families the frequent reading of the holy scriptures but to make it the employment of a portion of time daily we commend this to and we believe if the heads of families are carefull in cultivating the seed of truth in themselves, there will be so little danger of the custom becoming formal that it will not unfrequently be the means of quickning quickning the minds of those concerned in it: more especially if a subsequent pause be alowed in order that the sacred truths which have been read mead may have time to make their Due improvements on the mind or that the mind may have time rise in secret aspirations after a blessing as at this at other times, that several persons have been added to us by conviencement, not desire it may also have been by advancement conversion from form to power, such truly convinced and converted are a strong tower, they know the sacrifice which they have made for there present condition, and value it accordingly, they have bought the truth and are so far from desireing to sell it that they are concerned that others should possess the same enjoyment, but we are sorrie times greaves that persons finding there way and profers through self denial into our society, do not always retain there ground, & the salt doth not always retain its savour.

In tenderness therefore of heart we intreat the newly convinced not to esteeme there admission as a period of rest from conflict, it rather requires a deepe exercise and we beseach friends among whome such may dwell to treat them with great circumspection as well as kindness, beware of hurting them by an ill example, they may be offered offended and if they are sincere they are in the number of those whom we are cautioned not to offend on the other hand they are tender and inexperienced and they may be laden with with the concerns of our discipline farther than their strength will bear, thus friends on every occasion cation we see that sound judgement and sound practice require debth and solidity: let us, then, keeping in mind continuly desire to be endued with that discernment which is the mean under direction of the holy head, of qualifying the body of Christ.

The amount of the sufferings brought up, which have this year been reported to this Meeting from our several Quarterly and other Meetings and from Ireland is upwards of tenthousand nine hundred pounds chiefly on the account of tithes and there called church rates and also of a sundry demands of a military nature — Before we conclude we are disposed to turn our attention to you dear youth who are rising up to manhood, to you we would extend a tender yet an earnest invitation in your hopes of the church will have need of your help and there is nothing that we desire more for you to see you advancing in Ranks of Righteousness; in the Christian warfare and your qualifications will lie in humility and and Meekness, seeing it is the meeke whome the Lord will teach of his ways But dear young people men in this very meeting we have been made to lament because so many of you evidently prefer the gratifications of nature which is corrupt and which tends to corruption to the cross of Christ which corrects its hurtfull propensities and to the grace of God which brings salvation. Many of you have a degree of love to our holy cause — why than will you pursue a train of conduct which tends to lay it waste? Do not despise provisions provision the Counsils of experience. Many have tried the path which some of you tread and have found it lead to misery and happy are those whose course is interrupted and who are who do not persist in their pro-ress before it lead to final destress. but though we thus speak there are also many of our beloved youth who are rising and risen into the state of Maturity of whom we are perswaded better things and things that accompany salvation. Dear young friends of whatever rank or station, it is cordial to salute you in the fellowship of the gospel and to bid you god speed. Hold on your way, turn not to the right hand aside to the right hand nor or to the left, you may have tribulation but be of good chere, your holy leader hath overcome the world thus when some of those who now address you shall be held no more in this scene of conflict, but if they continue faithfull will partake of the joy of their Lord and and of your Lord, you may stand in their places with holy fervency, be a blessing to succeeding generations and show forth the praises of him who hath called you out darkness into his marvelous light. ——

The Epistle
From the Yearly Meeting Held in London

by Adjournments from the 18th to the 27th of the Fifth Month 1807 Inclusive

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends in Great Britain Ireland and elsewhere ——

Dear friends ——

We are disposed again to renew the current of Christian good will which has so often induced us to furnish you with a written memorial of our concern and love for our Brethren Dispersed in their various allotments in this kingdom and elsewhere and thus to fix for your advantage some traces of those impressions which from time to time, during the present state of our society have been made on our Minds,

If we are all instruments in the hand of the Lord to comfort & comfort the feeble minded among you to support the support the weak & to encourage the upright & arouse the careless we pray that he by his almighty influence may firmly establish in your hearts every good purpose to which our words may excite you & like every other ground of consolation which he may enable us to hold forth Other dear friends again we salute you in Love in gospel Love, How animating is the ability to consider ourselves the common children of one benevolent and all powerfull Parent to depend upon him for our own preservation and to implore him for that of our neighbours surely shall we not then draw nigh to the accomplishment of those eternal commands thou shalt love thy the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy strength and with all thy mind and thy neighbour as thyself — Luke 10. 27

The accounts we have received at this Meeting respecting the present state of our Society in the several Quarterly Meetings continue to afford us with the relation of diverse instances of remissness in religious duty which do not meet with their due share of admonition. Nevertheless we believe that in other cases the diligence of upright friends to give counsel where it is adviseably necessary has produced effects which should encourage perseverance the spirit which tends to scatter and destroy unless vigilantly watched is continually at work and we request you beloved brethren to continue vigilant and not to be satisfied with any former exertions whilst the enemies evils remain but call upon you by that love and compassion which if you are in your offices you may not fear for the neglect not to slacken in your endeavors to stir them up to diligence & perseverance in godliness which you desire — this exhortation has been drawn from us by more than a year & [illegible] such as are in the frequent neglect of our religious meetings we suppose too long to remain without cause ill. (I will not say be disowned but blessed is he who under the holy influence of love having dispensed with in the reason can seal himself clear owing any thing to his Brother on this account — — — — — — — —

Our concern for the preservation of brotherly love remains strong and unabated. We have been and are in this Meeting made sensible of the the propagating nursing effects of it therefore were there no other inducements we should still be induced from time to time to renew our ernest and pressing exortations that that it may abound and flourish among our dear Brethren in religious Profession enmity even in a small degree pollutes the mind and renders it unfit to approach with acceptance that pure and holy being of whom the beloved disciple thus epitetically testifies God is Love and 1st John 4:8 do we not daily lament to see wide spread desolations which the spirit which the spirit of contention is even now occasioning to suffer humanity this though it differs in degrees it springs from the same root as greatest ill will therefore a sincere abhorrence of war if they are consistent will reach against the smallest bud of enmity as it is cherished in any relation in the heart and the man like in the will of Christ both learned the useful Lesson of self-denial will often make a sacrafice of his own will and opinion though he may esteem them to be right rather than speak or act in the expence of Christian fellowship

It is much in the power of those who have the care of young children to prepare them early for the salutary restraints of the cross of Christ and those who thus cooperate with the holy Spirit rebuke early resists the tender and flexible mind may expect (and what better can they seek) his all sufficient Blessing upon their endeavours and their success. Thus dear Fathers and you Mothers I entreat you to Consider the entire subjection of the will as the first Step in education. it will generally ensure to you that dutiful obedience over the rest of your Children which will prevent the need of future severity it will make you to govern them by love and that they will be rendering your service more easy at the same time that you are training the Lord. And parents must search you as their understanding open to take due apportionments of correction to attain the benefit of the restraint which your duty leads you to impose. Among some of the most irksome to the lively dispositions of youth are often those which relate to Speech and Dress. But as we know that the ground of these are direct from the world in these things it behoves us completely to prove by experience that they are often the means of defence against temptations to single sin the company of such as not living their subjects to holy restraint are unsuitable unsuitable examples for our youth to observe or to follow and when by the gentle intimations of truth we offer ourselves to understand they are ordered not to be offended they will feel you kindly disposed towards them for having thus in the way they should go and will bless the Lord on your behalf

I then have once touched upon some of the first important objects of the constant care of this meeting and since of those who desire to see our society Built up as a society that is compact together Jerusalem saith the Psalmist of old is built as a city that is compact together whither the tribes go up the tribes of the Lord unto the testimonies of Israel. Not only these great Subjects which concerns every state in life and Direct the course of our Christian conduct to the states more particular and part we shall not instructed with much of the Occasions of this Life you are still the object of our earnest constant care the society has long endeavoured to to consult your interests and to place within your reach whatever is necessary for your well fare and for that of your offsprings and you are equally the care of him who provides for the Sparrows to his care your care is as easy as that of any condition amongst men and of by his holy assistance will be a daily conformity to his will you become truly poor in spirit yours is the kingdom of God Heaven But as our friends suffer us to remind you that there is is not a portion that can satisfy the mind which may not also be a source of [illegible] of your future be fulfilled in your [illegible] you may find and give way to fresh and purer and [illegible] all the foolish and hurtful lusts which [illegible] in destruction and perdition therefore [illegible] you partake of the universal necessity of paying [illegible] attention to Christ sacred injunction when addressing himself to his immediate followers the [illegible] that [illegible] with these [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] all mankind

[illegible] you have [illegible] every [illegible] the [illegible] actions of life you have every [illegible] to [illegible] the Lord for [illegible] the [illegible] which he hath [illegible] you to [illegible] in your [illegible] fulfilled the [illegible] by [illegible] your [illegible] merely [illegible] for me with full confidence for one [illegible] be full and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] or [illegible] the poor and [illegible] and [illegible] if any God in [illegible] strong [illegible] to [illegible] the Society, has often [illegible] many of [illegible] useful members [illegible] more able advocate, be content with your station [illegible] great things for your [illegible] may not high stations but [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible]. But above all things [illegible] to know the Lord [illegible] have not known him and [illegible] him fully and faithfully walk with him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind for if you seek him he will be found [illegible] if you [illegible] you will [illegible] to be a [illegible] [illegible] support of the [illegible] under the the overflowing providence of Heaven to relieve the want and bear the burden of his fellow. Hence the house of mourning & all scenes of sorrow are instructive with many of the good things of this Life. You may not disclaim the title of affluent and therefore have an opportunity among your good works to exercise the temporal virtues committed to your trust yet never desire that others may lately consider that they are so rich on earth as to be heirs of the kingdom of heaven. Faithful in those good works which are produced by faith through prayer you may not have to labour with your hands the cause of truth but by your importunity for grace to do and it may be prevailed upon not to be by the weight or many appearances of your property property, sometimes so visibly lies on your property Less is an additional grace in the account and we much desire that you may be so awake to a sense of these things as to be prepared to render up your accounts with joy and to receive the answer of well done. The poor and the rich have their appropriate virtues and at the same time that each is required to be content and to be humble we believe it may be truly said that as contentment is a peculiar ornament of the poor so is humility of the rich your station in Life subjects you more than others to be tried by associating with other wealthy persons among the people of God with whom the Lord of Christ is often to dwell, that you may be known by their conversation and manner of life as it may appear that we cannot sensibly and respectfully open our minds to you therefore we entreat you for your own sake for that of your posterity whom you are bound to protect and for the sake of the cause of truth we entreat you dear friends we beseech you by the mercies of God be not conformed to this world but be ye transformed by the renewing of your minds that you may prove what that is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God for God has entrusted me to say by the grace given unto me to every man that is among you not to think more highly than he ought to think but to think soberly according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith

That you shall always be found humbly to be found in every condition of life and from time to time in your families and by your own fireside retired from company and as much as possible from the world and friends it is difficult to speak to your state but we may pray to the father of mercies that he would please to visit with you, and we desire you take time to be deeply solicitous about your eternal welfare the restraint of the spirit of truth is the ornament that profits the soul and if you will not be invested with it you are open to the reproach and ridicule of the profane and how will you at length be found and found worthy to stand before the son of Man

In this Meeting we have received Epistles from our Brethren in most of the States showing the continuance of their zeal in the cause of Righteousness and encouraging us to perseverance the particulars of many of which it does not seem needful more to detail of the amount of the sufferings of our friends brought in this year in great Britain and Ireland chiefly for tithes Hire called Church Rates and militia[illegible] demands in upwards Eleven thousand seven hundred and seventy pounds and two friends have been imprisoned for not having proper substitutes in the Militia. But we are by no means inclined to complain of the conduct of Magistrates on the contrary we believe in many places there is a disposition in the hearts of Magistrates which induces them to protect us from suffering to the uttermost limits Limit, of the Law. and we desire that Friends may so walk in fear & meek and peaceable conduct always as to secure and ever fight their good opinion so conducting ourselves as becomes our profession and suffer our Light to shine

Now dear friends of every rank state and condition let us endeavour to be one in the Lord that he may shower down his mercies & his grace upon all. & he will keep each in their proper place. the young will be mild submissive and teachable and will become early acquainted with that power which in their own life to conduct through life with hope in both there & our hearts the very remembrance of them awakens our tenderest feelings and prompts our prayers to the Lord for their preservation.
The middle aged will stand firm in their day as watchmen upon the walls and as watchers, having on the armour of Light to withstand the efforts of the enemy and the aged will have to recede both retrospection and prospective views the past will recall to their [illegible] remembrance the wonderful mercies of the Lord and the future that the power of an endless life and the redeeming virtue of Christ are held out to them the prospect and satisfying them with the assurance of being his forever [illegible]

Dear friends,

In turning our attention to you in your various allotments, we are incouraged to give this testimonial of our Love, a Love which is felt to be the blessed consequence of our indeavours to serve the Lord from whence it springs. we desire that you also may be furnished and replenished with this greatest of Spiritual gifts, it will contribute to sweeten life: and through the efficacy of redeeming mercy it will disarm death of its terror, in pursuit whereof this "pearl of great price" oppositions, will arise during your State of probation yet be not discouraged but be patient. Behold the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit even of the earth and hath Long patience for it untill he receive the early and Latter rain be ye also patient: Remember that the fruit that which you seek is not only peace in such proportion as the Lord shall see meet to bestow

The subject of our care in this Meeting have been conducted with much brotherly love and condescension which our Exhortations to mutual vigilance and care have been permitted from time to time to experience that refreshment of mind which induces us to believe that our Meeting is still owned by our Holy Head and high priest Christ Jesus ——

Our present engagements have been similar to those which have had our attention in preceding Meetings. At our Last we believed it right by a special Minute to urge our Monthly and Quarterly Meetings to stir up those to whom it is intrusted the care of Children and young people to a conscientious discharge of that weighty duty. We are now disposed to express our warm desire that the youth may co-operate with our concern by being willing early and seriously to watch over their own Conduct by the Teach of that true Light which is not hid from the humble mind. Dear young friends, be not only willing to submit to the gentle admonitions and restraints of those who desire for you above every other attainment a growth in the holy fear and Love of God but be watchful even over your inmost thoughts for thought is the spring of action — out of the

We are inclined also dear friends to turn your attention to the root of our testimony against war. It is no more than Christian Love peaceful close—how as they approached the confines of that "city which hath foundation" Heb xi.10 their hearts were filled with hope, and their tongues employed in praise:—as if near the begining of a new song, of which the melody is unlimited and the duration eternal "the Lord is my strength Ps. cxviii. 14 and song and is become my salvation"—

We are also comforted in observing from year to year, and not often more than the present year, succession arising of such as appear to be endeavoring to serve the Lord in uprightness of heart.
Some in one way and some in an other. in the Lords service there is employment for every talent with which he has endowed his creature man; each should be employed in the proper apostle "but the same spirit"

Having therefore no reason to think that the great Head of the church hath forsaken us, but that he is still willing as our hearts can stand open to him, to qualify for judges not for counsellors. let us endeavour by his gracious assistance and with unceasing prayer to him for that help to be in our way, and yield tender youth up to that most critical

The Epistle from the Yearly Meeting held in London.

By adjournments, from the 21st of the fifth Month, to the 1st of the sixth Month, 1810 inclusive.

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends, in Great Britain, Ireland and Elsewhere.

In turning our minds towards saluting you with an epistle, and particularly as the subject came more than usually under attention, an engagement was felt, which induces us to believe that in so doing we shall be in the way of our duty: and when that precious love which binds together the members of the spiritual body is in dominion, this duty is made manifest. And baptized into his spirit as the faithful church of Christ, where into in name, and baptized into his spirit, we abide under this powerful influence to visit the meetings; we also the members, in their allotments & several abodements can find no surer means of being preserved, each in the way & line of our duty for all contributing, each his part, to the common welfare, than by experiencing "the Lord God" reminded, "shed abroad in their hearts." Just we know that the love of earthly things too much prevails. The harmony & communion & unity so intermitted. yea even many become spiritually "rapid and stupid." Dear friends, who is who may mar or mad this our understanding? let me address you in the language of the evangelic al prophet, "Arise, Shine;" for is there the Lord in his never failing mercy, may direct the words of his servants, which by you are say that your light is not come." Let it then be display -ed in conduct. Prize in our hearts great command -ments of perpetual obligation, the love of God, and the love of our neighbour. the latter is the ground of our Christian discipline and the form is the life of our spiritual worship. and we are persuaded that by, through the redeeming power of the word, and by continuing in this fear and under his guidance, we become established in these both dispositions — i.e. to use other words, with gratit -ude, watchfulness, and tenderness of mind we improve -ve these healthy gifts of grace they will never be taken from us, but will remain as a land, when the evil of ~~difficulties~~ shall be removed, and a nearer access be opened to that fountain of love, in a blessed immor -tality. at the other annual assemblies, when we are call -ed to account of the state of the meetings which this Yearly Meeting superintends, we have too often occasion of grief in hearing of disputes which do not comport with a people professing to be spiritually minded. Such are from various quarters reported to us this year. yet we are not disposed to enumer -ate them in us, though we can readily trace their origin. But it is the mind of every one amongst us, that it is better to be willing to bear, each the origin of his own dispute, than to compose his mind by considering it a small one. The more we can abide under a sense of our own wants, the nigher are the more earnestly shall we apply for help to Him upon whom help is laid. And probably the want of more entire willingness to give ourselves in the creation to Him is one great reason why no more are raised up to bring forth fruit to the Lord's husbandry and godliness. It can scarcely be denied, that fainthearted labourers ~~are also~~ in our Lord's vineyard are still wanting. We noticed in our last year's epistle, the removal of many who, according to our power of spiritual perception, might bear the appellation. The addition in connection of the present year has added to the list of the dead, who we doubt not are gone to the Lord; and is a repeated call to the living to look, watch, and be sumbling: since with the new additional year, there will be cut off that other faithful servants are ripening to the same solemn period: a period which, though to them it may be unspeakably blessed, will deprive the church of their labours, and of the spiritual travail, sympathy, and prayers of their spirits.

It is certainly not easy to compress the wants of the church in one comprehensive term; but it seems as if one of the most scriptural wants at this present day were Dedication. Remember, dear visited friends, that in Christ Jesus you are to submit to his rule, to declare it for his cause; and that the yoke of disobedience is known to be heavy. Thus, while we are inviting you to faithfulness, by the hopes which we are ready to depict, in the departure of servants and of hand maids; and by the grief that depend on their sins as they were entering on that nearer union with the Lord; with him "of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named;" we may truly say, that the sisters "ye are all called to be free;" even to the glorious liberty of the children "of God."

And it is with thankfulness that we perceive, as also we hinted last year, that very many of our Redeemer's friends of both sexes, seem sensible that the Lord's preparing hand is upon them. How thankworthy is their meekness in the path of dedication; yea yet in their low and secret state, they may go on "from strength to strength"; until, having fulfilled their measure of suffering, every one of them may "appear" with final acceptance "before God in Zion."

The amount of the sufferings reported this year on account of tithes, priests demands, and these called church rates, and for military demands, is upwards of twelve thousand six hundred and seventy eight pounds. In our last year's epistle we adverted to the imprisonment of a few young men, under the militia laws; and expressed our apprehension that more cases of that kind would follow. But whether of the attachment of many of our youth to their peaceable testimony, induced this apprehension, and it has been verified by the imprisonment of several more on account of the local militia, and of one for the common militia. Though these temporary sacrifices of liberty demonstrate a disposition which endears them to our hearts; nevertheless we cannot forget that they are yet but in the beginning of their course of dedication; and, as in the case in various ways with many others of our precious youth are as yet only "girding on the harness." If dear youth you are allowed to receive a peaceful reward for your early submission to duty, gratitude prompts you still to keep your eye to your holy guide, for further manifestations of his will, and for further proofs of his protecting care. And know assuredly, that your days are prolonged to a period at present unmerited, and you are preserved in the fear of the Lord, these, and all your morning acts of humble attachment to his cause will be sweet in your remembrance.

We have received at this time epistles from all the North American yearly Meetings in which besides the general vigilance over the welfare of the society, we find a continuance of attention to the same objects of more general concern, which we mentioned last year: namely, the state of the black people still held as slaves, and the measures employed for civilizing the indian natives.

The Epistle from Ireland has been particularly grateful to us, and we have not failed to testify our unity with friends in that nation by a free affection ate words of reply. Living as we do under the same holy and uniting principle, government and above all professing the same holy and uniting principle we are inclined at this time to commend our friends of the sister nation to the continued cordial remembrance of their brethren on this side the channel.

Now, dear friends, we would mention one subject which at this time has been under our notice; a caution to all to use moderation in their manner of living; and in this way to seek relief from the increasing expence of the times in which we live, rather than by engaging in more extensive and often hazardous schemes of trade. By these latter means the mind becomes encumbered, and unfitted for religious service, yea often for religious thought, and for breathing daily after the spiritual riches, which are to be enjoyed in close communion with God. And let us have to consider how distant from the state which indeed is still in case to the full extent of its, or is endeavouring by multiplied adventures in trade, to acquire that power, which it seeks for the purpose of worldly enjoyment.

We believe however and we are glad in believing that there are numbers who act upon sounder principle than these, who knowing as with the apostle that "the fashion of this world passeth away," are really desirous of using "this world as not abusing it." Those we would encourage to hold on in the day cast up before them, trusting in the Lord, who hath declared that all things necessary will be given to those who seek first His kingdom. Thus treating, and endeavouring to apply to him in secret supplication, in the difficulties that must in a state of probation be the lot of all, we may humbly hope that in our several proportions we shall "grow" in the truth" individually; and that coming up in our allotments in the church militant, our various meetings will also, whether more or less as to number, experience among them a "growth in the "Truth."

But dear friends there is one attainment which at this time, we are earnest to remind you of; an attainment without which no other gift can be permanent and certain. We want to press on your the never ceasing duty of humility and lowliness of mind. Even our blessed Lord declared himself to be "meek and lowly of heart;" and can any one, expecting salvation by him, be exempt from the need of possessing the same holy temper? However great the talents with which he may have endowed us by nature, or however he may relinquish our souls with the more excellent gifts of his Holy Spirit, still we may have nothing which we have not received; and we can have sound reason for setting at naught the least of our brethren — for whom, let us remember, equally as for us, Christ died. Let us then dear friends be willing to examine ourselves, and know whether we are indeed humble followers of a lowly-minded, though omnipotent, Saviour. If we find a ~~[illegible]~~ deficiency of humility, let us pray for an increase of it, and for assistance to check the springing up of this dreadful opposite, Pride; and if we are not without some ground a hope that we are endeavouring to grow together with an humble heart, we shall certainly be encouraged still to supplicate for its continuance. Finally,

Dear friends, whether with the beloved disciple, we address you as fathers, or as young men: whether without regard to age, sex or station, our Lord in Christ now salutes the aged the or the rising generation; remember, that it is "the meek whom the Lord will teach his ways:" and thus taught, and receiving with unreserving heart his holy doctrine, "grace and peace" will be multiplied, "from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ."

Extracts from the minute of Sandwich Quarterly meeting held on Nantucket 2d of 7mo 1811

The following extracts from the minutes of our last yearly Meeting were read and copies thereof directed to be sent to our several Monthly meetings.

Sandwich Quarterly meeting proposes that in future their meetings be held on the first fifth day of 7th Month at Nantucket & of the 10th month at Sandwich and of the 12th and 4th months at New Bedford. which we unite with and the alternate [illegible] the place in the 10th month next

The subject of inspecting Testimonies and memorials of deceased Friends claiming our solid attention. It is concluded that they have the inspection of the meeting for sufferings after having had the approbation of Quarterly meeting previous to their being presented to this meeting

"This Meeting has concluded to raise nine hundred dollars the ensuing year the proportion of which for Sandwich Quarterly meetings is four hundred and twenty four dollars which they are directed to to send to our Treasurer"

"The subject relative to our present school Friends coming before us it is concluded to refer to the minute of 1803 respecting that Subject and monthly and Quarterly meetings are required to forward the subscriptions as they recommended"

The Committee appointed last year to promote subscriptions for the purpose of encouraging a boarding School having made report

"thereof released from further attention thereto; and as "the said Committee have not been able to obtain a sufficient friend to commence a school at present "the subscriptions are relinquished; and this meeting "feeling a renewed concern that the object of establishing a school for the promotion of a guarded education may still be kept in view; and be put in execution soon it can be respectfully recommend to the several quarterly and monthly meetings to encourage Friends to a liberal Subscriptions.

Extracted from the minutes of the Yearly meeting held in Rhode Island in the sixth month, 1803."

Upon looking into the state our society as exhibited by the answers to the Queries from the respective Quarterly meetings, our minds have been affected with the deficiencies apparent therein and deep concern upon the occasion has been felt, and manifested itself in lively expressions upon their inconsistency with our holy profession."

"Without descending into every particular at this time we hope that the minds of friends in the meetings subordinate to this may be impressed with the necessity of vigilance and that as far as is practicable each concerned Friend may become and consider himself an Overseer and act with the Qualification that Wisdom will confer over himself and such of his Brethren in whom he may discover an abatement of Zeal, or want of concern in the attendance of our meetings for worship and discipline or those who do attend but give way therein to a Drowsy propensity therein.

"And as the spirit of Detraction which is very pernicious in its consequences in Religious as well as Civil Society is noted in most if not all the accounts in a manner that we have cause to fear every monthly meeting is more or less affected by it; from their neglect not sufficiently regarding the advice of the Apostle to "Bridle" their "Tongues" & by the due observance of which salutary Council their minds would be gradually exercised so that nothing injurious to the Character of another would proceed from them"

"It is also with feelings of regret and sorrow that we have found the accounts manifesting in many instances that some of our members give way to the degrading practice of the frequent use of Spirituous Liquors. as this is an Evil and weakness which may be classed with the enormities which are to be found among the unregenerate only we believe it to be right to refer to our Salutary Discipline; and when after due admonition and a reasonable forbearance with such as are become so lost to a sense of the requiring of Truth as to persevere in a practice so reproachful to their own Characters; and in which the Comfort and happiness of their families are involved and without a reasonable ground for hope of their being reclaimed, we recommend to monthly Meetings to remove the reproach occasioned by such conduct by disowning the offender.

The Clerks is directed to forward Copies of these minutes to the respective Quarterly meetings

Extracted from the minutes of the Yearly meeting of Friends held on Rhode Island for New England from the 15 to the 19 of 6 Month inclusive 1811. by Obadiah Davis Clerk

This meeting proposes to raise seven hundred dollars for the service of the ensuing year the proportion of which for Sandwich Monthly meeting is sixty three dollars which they are directed to send to our Treasurer

By Adjournments from the 22nd of the Sixth Month 1811, inclusive,

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends in Great-Britain, Ireland and Elsewhere.

Dear Friends

Renewedly disposed to embrace every opportunity of addressing you with some account of the care and engagement of mind which have prevailed us at this season, we have again felt encouragement to believe that we may be favoured, through the helping mercies which is permitted to crown the humble endeavour of the disciple to build you up "on your most holy faith in Christ Jesus our Lord." Further than this cordial salutation in Him, the "living stone," the "chief corner-stone, elect, precious," and come to Him that ye may be "built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood." These are indeed sacred expressions, not lightly to be adopted in the state to which they point is a high attainment, not to be reached by human contrivance and skill: but remember, it is the glory of the gospel dispensation, that by it "every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain;" yea, even the blind shall be led "by a way that they know not," and darkness shall be made "light before them."

"These things" saith the Lord, "I will," "I do unto them, and not forsake them."

One principle engagement of mind, which has been manifested in this meeting, has been for our youth; and as the influences of heavenly love are successively visiting them as they rise from childhood; so the care of the living members of the church is ex-pressly attracted, to attempt their preservation from the dangers incident to their state and to encourage them to persevere in their attachment to their holy and heart-tendering visitant. Thus dear young people though we may seem to repeat former advice, and some time like the successive tenches of good which from time to time are making upon your hearts, is never obsolete. it is a sing mat favour, that in various places there are continually fresh proofs of the prevalence of the love of Christ operating on the minds and producing its genuine and blessed effect of conformity to his likeness: Humility. It is true and self-denial must form a part of this likeness: but so it is ~~to true, and~~ both also. the real and proper love of God, and of our neighbour: and "if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." Brethren, therefore, we beseech you, early — and in good earnest and thoroughly, under the powerful hand of the Lord. "The fear of the Lord is ~~the~~ the ~~beginning~~ ~~and of the~~ beginning of wisdom: yea the foundation of true knowledge. There is danger in seeking knowledge independently of this, for so, as saith the apostle, "knowledge puffeth up." But this true knowledge is life eternal. "This, said our blessed Lord, "is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." O, the favour, the honour, and the eternally blessed effect of taught of the Lord!

Nor have our good desires at this time been confined to the youth only. We are disposed to write also to you, who have passed the meridian of life. You have travelled along course through the dangers and vicissitudes of time; and it will be well for you to reflect, and to know, how far you have engaged in a long course of profession: and to some of you we trust it may be said, "You have known Him that is from the beginning." We beseech you to pause, and to ponder the path of your feet. Is your adoration nearer than when you believed? is your present state answerable to the love with which you were visited and attended in the morning of your day; and is your love now, equal to the love of your espousals? Fruits of increasing love to God are manifested in a variety of ways; and probably not in any one more, or more acceptably to Him, than by tokens of regard for the flock of his hand He visited you in his church. It is remarkable, that when our Lord thrice put the question to his zealous disciple, Peter, "Simon, lovest thou me more than these?" the only consequent instruction was, "Feed my lambs — feed my sheep." There are various ways, too, in which this may be effected; by prayer, by sympathy, by assistance in their spiritual difficulties; but above all by steady, uniform, circumspect example. Did these dear friends, as you know, cannot be afforded to them, one fresh supplies of spiritual strength to them, and the fear of the Lord. How faithful and advantageous is an observance of the comprehensive command of Christ: "I say unto all, Watch!" Thus young and old may be helps to each other: for as "He that watereth shall be watered" so he only the disciple who contributes to forward others in the path of righteousness and peace will receive an increase of ability himself to hold on his way; faithful members of the gathered church will become each others' joy in the Lord.

We have received at this Yearly Meeting, an acceptable epistle from Ireland, and from each of the North American Yearly Meetings. The latter continue steadily occupied in endeavouring not only to build up our own Society in Christian practice but to diffuse the benefits of their Christian charity, beyond our limits. Two of them, namely those of Maryland and Carolina, have lately again become advocates with their respective legislatures, for their oppressed brethren of the African race; and though yet in vain, not with discouragement to our further intercession: and three of them, those of New York, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, are still attentive to the benevolent object of attempting to civilize their Indian neighbours.

The sufferings reported this year amount in all to about Twelve thousand seven hundred pounds. Ecclesiastical demands form the bulk, and military ones a considerable part; and a few friends have been imprisoned for refusing to serve in the militia.

Dear friends, as in our religious refusal to pay tithes, and to take our part with others in military service, our object is to bear testimony to the freedom of gospel ministry, and to the supremacy of Christ as a teacher in the heart; and also to his reign of peace in the "kingdoms of this world;" we desire that in all your conduct amongst men, you may walk worthy of the high profession which you make; in which truly Christian endeavour you will continually feel the need of his inward support.

Many are the duties incumbent on the followers of Christ and all require the support of his presence for their due performance. "Without me," they are his own words, "ye can do nothing." We feel inclined at this time, even to close the present salutation of our love, to remind you of this indispensible duty, the acknowledgment of our dependence on his power, by duly assembling at the seasons appointed for wait-ing on and worshipping God. Deficiencies, indeed, in this respect do not in general appear to increase; and we are aware that we often renew our tender sort--ation on this subject. Once more dear friends, let the exortation go forth. Consider the motives of deficiency, such of you as may be conscious of it. If, as the Apostle has declared, the presenting of your bodies be a reasonable service," we beseech you to examin into the cause that it is ~~not~~ too often intermitted. Is it not, that in a greater or less degree you may still be "conformed to this world?" But recollect: this conformity will still prevent the Christian-professor from being transformed by the renewing of the mind; and from proving (as who at the solemn approa-ching does will not desire to have proved) "what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God." Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory for ever and ever.

Amen

Epistle
From the
London.

By Adjournments from the 20th of the Fifth Month, to the 30th of the same inclusive. 1812,

To the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings of Friends in Great-Britian, Ireland, and Else.

Dear Friends

Being permitted to meet at the present time to investigate the state of our religious Society, and participating together in that love which we believe takes its origin in the boundless mercy of God through Christ our holy Redeemer, through Him who died for us, and who liveth to make intercession for us; we have found this love to extend to you our Brethren. We have considered your situation, whether in your larger or smaller meetings; and as we have again been impressed with the belief, that in renewing the written salutation of our love, we shall be found in the way of our duty, we have desired to be directed to impart to you such information and counsel as may tend to your increase in the fear of the Lord, and in the consolations of his presence.

Seeing therefore the infinite value of love, that indispensable qualification of patient disciples, we ardently desire to impress it on every individual to examine impartially how far he feels it to flourish in his own mind, and to influence all his actions, thus inducing others to follow him, as he is endeavouring to follow Christ. And we believe that nothing is more favourable to the preservation of this holy disposition as humility of heart, a temper in which we constantly see ourselves unworthy of the least of the Lords mercys, and we believe that nothing will be so favourable to the preservation of this holy disposition as humility of heart, a temper in which we constantly see ourselves unworthy of the least of the Lords mercies, and dependent only on his compassion for our final acceptance, seeing also that no awakened mind can be without a view to a better and an enduring state, and that no one knows how soon he may be called to put off mutability; let us bear in perpetual recollection that in the state to which we aspire, there is nothing but eternal love, joy and adoration, in the presence of him through whose love we were first awakened.

In contemplating this copious subject, though we are not apprehensive of more symptoms of deficiency than in former years, we feel disposed afresh to encourage friends to be prompt in undertaking, and prudent in executing the blessed office of peace-maker; and we believe the patient endeavours of faithful friends will be generally crowned with success, in proportion as their own minds are seeking to Jesus for assistance in performing an office on which he has pronounced his blessing; and in endeavouring to lead the minds of any contending persons, to a sense of the absolute necessity for all true disciples to live in peace one with another, and to forgive one another, even as God for Christs sake has forgiven them.

Before we quit the subject of Christian love, let us remind you that no limit of name can can found its influence. In this season of almost unprecedented pressure on some of the poorer classes of our countrymen, we deem it particularly desirable, that our dear friends every where should not be backward in examining into their distresses; but liberal in contributing a due proportion of relief. Many are allowed to have temporal possessions sufficient to do this with comparative ease. Let these therefore remember that they are but stewards, and let them seek to be good and faithful stewards. And it is probable that others not equally abounding in the good things of this life, may find that in using moderation in their own expenditure, they may have where with to supply the wants of others, and to make the heart of the poor man sing for joy. O, the blessing of clothing the naked and feeding the hungry! who would not desire to be entitled to a share in it.

Moderation in personal and domestic expences, every way becomes the followers of a lowly hearted Saviour. We are therefore engaged to press it upon our young friends just setting out in life, to beware of needless expence in the furniture of their houses, and in their general domestic habits. Even those who think their property may entitle them to abundence or to elegance, by indulging in costly habits are setting but an ill example to those of more contracted means; and as we are but too apt to copy that which coincides with our natural disposition, our want of circumspection may prove an incitement to extravagance in others, and prompt them to use exertions for supporting an appearance; which may divert them from the true business of life — the daily study to be approved in the sight of God.

And dear youth in general, especially you whose period of life may not be so advanced as that of those whom we have just addressed, even you who have left, or are about to leave the protection of a parent, and to enter into the busy scenes of life; some of you, probably, in populous towns, far different from the retirement of your paternal abodes; we beseech you to guard against the new temptations which may now assail you. Oppose the first incitement to any liberty inconsistent with your principles, and be willing to seek the society of experienced friends in the places where you may be situated, and to receive their admonition with meekness and attention. Never forget that the season of early youth is a season of peculiar danger; and if you grow up under this sense, you will from time to time be led to cry for preservation to Him who has said, (and his words are Amen forever,) "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."

The usual accounts of sufferings brought in this year, chiefly for tithes and those called church rates, and for military demands, amount to thirteen thousand six hundred and forty-five pounds. Five young men have been imprisoned for refusing to serve in the [illegible] militia.—

Besides these and other accounts which we have received from our several Quarterly Meetings, we have an epistle from Ireland, and one from each of the Yearly Meetings on the American continent. The Yearly Meetings of our American brethren seem vigilant in their attention to the support of our testimonies, and to purposes of general benevolence. The due education of our youth still forms a part of the concern of the Yearly Meeting of Pennsylvania; which has also, together with those of Maryland, * testify in their Epistles, their unremitting concern for the state of the enslaved Africans in their land. Although in our country, as well as in theirs, the infamous traffick with Africa in slaves has been abolished by law, we desire friends not to forget that slavery still exist within the British empire, and to suffer their sympathy still to flow towards its oppressed victims.

Thus dear friends, we trust we may say that both abroad and at home, the Lord is influencing his servants to remain on the watch. Though the subjects of our concern may be somewhat various, it is still pleasant to reflect that all are aiming at the same object, and all looking to the same Lord for his gracious assistence. Having the same faith, and being baptized with the same baptism, even those plunges into exercise and conflict which wash us from confidence in our own exertions; how can it be otherwise than that we should rely, as we have just hinted, on the same Lord?
